CEBRIG IN 2022

1.1. THE GENERAL MISSION OF CEBRIG

The Emile Bernheim Center for Interdisciplinary Research in Management (CEBRIG) conducts fundamental research activities in management and applied economics, encourages their diffusion and societal debate through internal and external seminars, and larger events. To do so, the center relies on a vast network of international collaborations. The center also fulfills its mission by training future generations of researchers. It supports doctoral students throughout their thesis writing journey and supports them in all their research activities.

The CEBRIG reports numerous publications and participations of its members in national and international conferences. It historically organizes four types of internal and external activities: Research Seminars In Applied Economics and Management (RSAEM), Brown Bag Seminars (BBS), Research Reunite Seminars (RRU), and the Management Cafés, which aim to promote societal debate and ensure knowledge diffusion in Brussels outside of research circles. Furthermore, center members regularly organize conferences on targeted themes.

1.2. THE YEAR 2022

The health crisis of 2020 and 2021 highlighted the adaptability of institutions, and research centers have not fallen short on this aspect. 2020 was characterized by the urgency and need to function quickly in a remote setting, which allowed for the development of new ways of working. But this resilience turned into exhaustion in 2021, faced with the length of the crisis and the lack of direct socialization, which is traditionally prominently present in research activities. The academic year from September 2021 to June 2022 marked the desired return to in-person activities. However, while the urgency of the initial departure in 2020 quickly converted our surprise into an action plan, the savoir-vivre of the past, associated with the new reality of remote work turning it into a "hybrid formula," posed sincere questions of organization and motivation. As in most sectors, there has been a general tendency to ask, "do we really need to come in person?" In a hybrid formula, it is impossible to know the proportion of the audience that could ultimately have come physically to the event. After the summer of 2022, we observed a real desire for a return of activities in person, keeping the hybrid solution for people who had to travel from far away, which can bring certain organizational facilities and therefore high-level researcher participation.

CEBRIG IN 2022

The year 2022 confirmed what was hoped for at the end of 2021, notably (1) increased support for doctoral students and researchers in general to be quickly re-exposed to the international research environment. Because young researchers have particularly suffered from the total, partial, or effective closure of borders. (2) And a more concrete alignment of activities between the Bernheim Foundation and CEBRIG, thanks to joint projects responding to societal challenges.

First, to support doctoral students, CEBRIG used part of its funding to finance either doctoral students at the very beginning of their thesis or doctoral students who had suffered a delay due to the crisis and needed to be able to finalize their work and defense. Furthermore, the Center ensured that doctoral students now have training sessions among themselves, in addition to Brown Bag Seminars, which also serve as presentation tests for doctoral students before going to a conference or an academic job interview.

Second, CEBRIG's research is very broad and multidisciplinary, and for a good part, particularly relevant to the many societal questions and challenges of our time. In this perspective, it was imagined with the director of the Bernheim Foundation to go beyond purely financial support and to analyze how some of the members' skills at CEBRIG could more directly benefit its activities or directly addressed themes within the Bernheim Foundation. Under the impetus of Anne-Catherine Chevalier, joint funding is now dedicated to projects that connect CEBRIG's expertise with the needs of other organizations supported by the Bernheim Foundation. This allows for triangulation between research topics, applicability, and support for management and public policy for organizations that lack these skills, and potential collection of field data that is needed for research.

1.3. MISSION STATEMENT

CEBRIG is one of the oldest research centres at SBS-EM. It was founded in 1951 as Centre Emile Bernheim d'Etude des Affaires, thanks to the impetus of Emile Bernheim, an industrialist with a broad and generous vision of the role of business in society.

Its first bylaws stated that its main aim was "to tighten the links existing between the University on the one hand, and industrial, commercial, banking and other companies and their professional groups on the other hand, with the double objective to bring to the business community the support of scientific research."

CEBRIG IN 2022

Emile Bernheim later entrenched his support to CEBRIG and specified his vision in his will. The will assigned to CEBRIG a visionary mission: "To seek the conditions for a lasting social peace, supported by an equitable distribution of profits and by the harmonious cooperation of the economic forces involved." It featured a list of questions that were to be addressed by CEBRIG: "the reform of firms' structures; consultation within companies; the security of workers' livelihoods; the greater solidarity to be established between the various sectors of the economy; and all other topics that business life can spark now and in the future."

More generally Emile Bernheim's will stressed the importance of working beyond disciplinary boundaries, undertaking research aiming at better understanding conflicts in order to promote peace, and encouraging individual vocations, especially for the youth.

To this day, Centre Emile Bernheim de Recherche Interdisciplinaire en Gestion has aimed to fulfil the mission assigned to it by Emile Bernheim while respecting his vision. CEBRIG performs fundamental and applied research in all the fields of management science and encourages multidisciplinary research. Multidisciplinary research is key at CEBRIG with members having degrees in fields as diverse as management, business, art history, economics, history, philosophy, psychology, or sociology.

We believe that free inquiry, academic freedom, and research exchange are the best way to generate insightful research on the topics defined in Emile Bernheim's will, at the interface of business, economics, and the social sciences in general.

We contribute to the Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management in several ways. First, as a research centre, we conduct research and are therefore in line with the mission of the university, and hence SBS-EM's. Our members are engaged in research and as a result increase knowledge in their respective fields, blending all types of methods, ranging from qualitative to quantitative and experimental. Their results are published as articles in scientific journals, books, reports or cases studies. The centre maximizes the publications' visibility by disseminating a working paper series and a post-print series.

Second, we contribute to the visibility of the school in the general public. We organize regular and one-off events to disseminate the results of the research performed by our members, with a focus on topical societal and policy issues. We give interviews in the press and the social media to maintain an interface between academic research and society as a whole.

CEBRIG IN 2022

Third, and this is a consequence of being part of a university following the Humboldtian model, our research is directly integrated in the education our members provide to students at all levels of education (bachelor, master, PhD, executive education, and in-company training).

Our interaction with society is the first dimension we want to be known for. We want to be a research centre recognized for performing relevant, innovative, creative, thought-provoking and original research and making it accessible to a wider audience. The second dimension is our interaction with business, broadly defined, and society. The two dimensions are in line with Emile Bernheim's vision, by "bring[ing] to the business community the support of scientific research" and studying the means to bring a "harmonious cooperation of the economic forces."

1.4. POSITIONING

The raison d'être of CEBRIG is to provide an environment as auspicious as possible to a free and independent research, because we view research freedom as the best way to achieve the goals that have been bestowed on us.

This encompasses three key dimensions :

1.To provide the human resources to allow researchers to focus as much as possible on their research. This means providing adequate administrative support and help to a) capture financial opportunities b) network, sharing knowledge, know-how and encourage joint projects and applications c) attract international researchers and doctoral students.

2.To foster the multidisciplinarity that characterises us by encouraging interactions between researchers involved in various disciplines.

3.To have an impact on society. As a multidisciplinary center in management, our final goal is to produce research that can truly contribute to the big challenges and debates of our society, also in a more direct way by responding to direct requests from the public and private sectors.

As a prerequisite to those dimensions, we view maintaining respectful and supportive relationships between our members an essential aspect of CEBRIG. We draw a strict line between emulation on the one hand and competition or rivalry on the other.

CEBRIG IN 2022

Our key performance indicators reflect our objectives in terms of contribution to science and to dissemination of knowledge.

The following list may be viewed as our key indicators.

1.As a research centre, the number of scientific publications represents an important indicator.

2.Scientific articles are not necessarily the most suitable format for the research conducted by our members. Books are a valuable means to accumulate and disseminate knowledge. The number of books published by our members is therefore another indicator of performance.

3.Because training new researchers is a way to contribute to future research, the number of defended PhDs and the number of completed doctoral trainings are relevant indicators.

4.Organizing, or presenting at, scientific events, workshops and conferences represent another key performance indicator.

5.As part of our mission to disseminate research, we consider that the number of events targeting a wider audience is a useful indicator.

6.Likewise, we aim to increase our visibility on the media and social networks. We therefore consider that the number of press articles and interviews as an indicator of our performance.

7.We consider that the basic service that a research centre can provide its members is to organize research seminars. The number of research seminars organized during a given year is therefore also an indicator of performance.

8.Ultimately, to perform our mission better and increase the scope for collaborations, we aim to increase the size of the centre. The number of its members is an indicator, although our capacity to grow will depend on the support that we receive from the faculty.

CEBRIG IN 2022

1.5. CONCRETE OBJECTIVE GOALS

Our concrete objectives are therefore the following :

- 1.Maintain an environment propitious to research and encourage interactions between the members of the research centre, paying particular attention to the number of seminars organized.
- 2.Maintain or increase the level of publications.
- 3.Maintain or develop further an international outlook and foster the international network of the centre and of its members.
- 4.Increase interactions with a broader audience, through responding to direct requests from the public and private sectors, and also through wider communication using today's media.

3.4. MANAGEMENT CAFÉ

In October 2015, CEBRIG launched the Management Café, a series of thematic informal meetings, which transpose to management topics the concept of the "cafés philo".

The idea is to foster a debate in a friendly and relaxed "café" atmosphere around the experience of a practitioner and the insight provided by the research of a member of CEBRIG. The topics are relevant to anyone with an interest in business and organizations. Anyone with an interest in business and economics is invited to attend. This innovative activity is sponsored by the Bernheim Foundation.

In 2022, our Management Café resumed its on-site activities thanks to the easing of sanitary measures. Two Management Cafés events were organized in person at the « L'Atelier en Ville » (Place Stéphanie 6, Bruxelles). The number of participants varied between 10 and 25. Topics were diverse and ranging from museum management to job training. All Management Cafés are held in French and end with a nice networking apéro.

On Wednesday 18 May 2022, the Management Café returned to the Atelier en Ville, Place Stéphanie in Brussels, after two years of remote editions due to health restrictions, and its theme was "Is it ever too late to train?" The Centre Emile Bernheim's quarterly event attracted about 15 participants. Hélène Michotte, Pedagogical advisor in training and orientation at the Cité des métiers in Brussels, was invited to share her experience. Sandra Rothenberger, professor at the Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management, and member of the Centre Emile Bernheim de Recherche Interdisciplinaire en Gestion (Université libre de Bruxelles), contributed her scientific expertise.

BEM - LA BELGE JOURNÉE DE RECHERCHE EN MARKETING

20 December 2022

On December 20, the CEBRIG organized at ULB the first "Belgian day of research in Marketing" (BEM). This event gathered 35 marketing researchers (professors and doctoral students) from 5 French-speaking universities of Belgium : UCLouvain, ULB, ULiège, UMons, and UNamur.

In the morning, academics from each university presented their research center and gave an overview of the various research topics that the research teams are working on.

In the afternoon, Virginie Bruneau (ULB), Alain Decrop (UNamur), Simon Hazée (UCLouvain), and Elena Mazurova (ULiège) presented an ongoing research project. This first BEM was a good opportunity to learn more about the research activities of the different marketing research centers and pave the way for potential collaborations among marketing researchers in Belgium.

9h30 – 10h : welcome and coffee

10h – 12h : presentation of the different research groups + present your research in 180 seconds

(10 minutes presentation of the university research organization + 3 min per academic to present his/her research topics)

12h – 13h : lunch

SOTHEBY'S : ART AND WAR: LOOTING, PROVENANCE AND RESTITUTION

Wednesday 11th May 2022

Location : Université libre de Bruxelles (Local R42. 5.103, jonction Avenues Franklin Roosevelt & Jeanne, Ixelles)

from 18.30 to 20.00

Sotheby's Belgium and Solvay Brussels School of Economics & Managements of the Université libre de Bruxelles associate to organize a series of meetings about the art market and its different sectors.

These are animated by Virginie Devillez (expert in Impressionist, Modern and Contemporary Art at Sotheby's) and Kim Oosterlinck (professor in Finance specialized in the art market), with the idea to associate the actors of the art market and researchers.

The question of provenance, the capacity to retrace the history of a work of art, plays a central role in the art market. A prestigious provenance can influence positively the price of a work of art, while a dubious provenance can limit the ability of selling this work. Studies about provenance have undergone a considerable development in Germany, particularly looted art under the Nazi regime. Meike Hopp, professor at the TU Berlin and expert of the art market under the Nazi regime, will draw up the advances of the researches from the past years about this subject. Aurélie Vandevoorde will present the auction houses' point of view regarding issues about provenance. Finally, the Secretary of State Thomas Dermine talk about the restitution policy in Belgium.

Bruneau* V. and C. Janssen*, BEM – Belgian Marketing Day, Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management, ULB, Brussels, Belgium, December 20, 2022.

On December 20, the CEBRIG organized at ULB the first "Belgian day of research in Marketing" (BEM). This event gathered 35 marketing researchers (professors and doctoral students) from 5 French-speaking universities of Belgium : UCLouvain, ULB, ULiège, UMons, and UNamur. In the morning, academics from each university presented their research center and gave an overview of the various research topics that the research teams are working on. In the afternoon, Virginie Bruneau (ULB), Alain Decrop (UNamur), Simon Hazée (UCLouvain), and Elena Mazurova (ULiège) presented an ongoing research project. This first BEM was a good opportunity to learn more about the research activities of the different marketing research centers and pave the way for potential collaborations among marketing researchers in Belgium.

Through individual presentations followed by group discussions, the workshop aims to enlarge the perspective of art market research and go beyond the contemporary emphasis on high-end markets for the fine arts by focusing on applied arts, artistic crafts and design. Depending on their historical or geographical contexts, the applied arts have different meanings and hence different values. The workshop therefore will examine the various implications in the supply, distribution, and consumption of applied arts, decorative arts, craftworks and design from those of the so-called fine arts. <https://www.eur.nl/en/eshcc/events/international-workshop-tools-future-researching-art-market-practices-past-present-2022-06-09>

The Doctoral Programme in Management Sciences of SBS-EM in 2022

Managers SBS-EM – ULB

Prof. François Ryckx, Prof. Ariane Szafarz

Objective

The Doctoral School of Management Sciences set up jointly by the ULB (Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management), the ULiège (HEC Liège – School of Management) and the UMONS (Warocqué School of Business and Economics) aims to offer high level training, in accordance with the most demanding international standards, combining mastery of theories and methods, innovation, critical thinking, group work and personal approach. The programme is organized around a general principle: the creation of value in an increasingly globalized world, as applied to the various fields of management: strategy, finance, marketing, production, information systems, organization, human resources, etc.

Programme content

The programme is bilingual (French/English) and gives priority to international openness, scientific excellence and innovation as well as publication in scientific journals. The priority of international openness is marked in particular by research collaborations with certain foreign institutions: the Maastricht University School of Business and Economics, the Lille Institute of Business Administration, University of Lille 1, the management training and research unit of the University of Paris I Panthéon-Sorbonne.

The doctoral training programme offered by the ULB, the ULiège and the UMONS meets the essential conditions of specialization and integration of knowledge in a global economy. It is FNRS-approved. It comprises a) a core curriculum aimed at assuring a uniform skills base, encouraging knowledge among doctoral students and comparison of models, research questions and methods; b) a specialization programme comprising advanced classes and themed workshops in each of the six management areas: international trade and development; finance and accounting; information systems, supply chain management and Management Quantitative Methods; marketing and strategy; human resources and organization; innovation and entrepreneurship.

The programme is managed by a scientific Committee made up of representatives from each university:

ULiège Prof. Yves Crama and Prof. Marie Lambert

UMONS Prof. Chantal Scoubeau and Prof. Mélanie Volral (EDT spokesperson)

ULB Prof. François Ryckx and Prof. Ariane Szafarz

The Doctoral Programme

The Doctoral Programme in Management Science of the Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management starts with a doctoral training in Management Science (60 credits - Graduate School ULB-ULg-UMONS) and is followed by the writing of a dissertation to obtain a PhD in Economics and Management.

In 2021-2022, both programmes had a total of 54 enrolled students (with 32 in doctoral training).

The Doctoral Programme of the SBS-EM also aims to promote international collaborations including hosting renowned professors, establishing joint PhD, and encouraging stays of doctoral students in other universities.
